Cinema West Sussex: The first hundred years

by Allen Eyles, Frank Gray and Alan Readman

Phillimore, 1996 (RRP £15.95)

The South Coast was popular with early filmmakers and the county had links with many. Their work is highlighted and that of the film studio at Shoreham, which produced a string of successful feature films. This book also provides a rare insight into the world of amateur cinematography with the remarkable story of the nationally acclaimed Bognor Regis Film Society. The authors trace the travelling showmen who brought moving pictures to public halls and fairgrounds and describe in detail the history of all 62 cinemas that have operated in West Sussex.

Price: £2.50

D-Day West Sussex

JANE AUSTEN'S WORTHING

THE REAL SANDITON

'This wide-ranging book is a fine achievement.' Sensibilities
'A well balanced and carefully researched work.' Austenprose

Jane Austen's Worthing: The Real Sanditon

by Antony Edmonds

Amberley, 2015

During her stay in Worthing in late 1805 Jane Austen became friends with Edward Ogle, who was the driving force behind the chaotic little town's transformation into a well-ordered seaside resort. Then, in 1817, the year of her death, Jane Austen used Worthing as the background for her final, unfinished novel, Sanditon, one of whose main characters was based on Ogle. This book gives a detailed account of the town Jane Austen knew in 1805 and explores in full the close links between Sanditon and early Worthing.

Price: £9

Lost buildings of Worthing: a historic town and its people

by Antony Edmonds

Amberley, 2016

Demolition and redevelopment over the past seventy-five years have done great damage to Worthing, and relatively few of the town's historic buildings survive.

This is a lavishly illustrated record of the most interesting and important of these vanished buildings. It is also a rich and detailed history – and social history – of Worthing, with numerous fascinating narratives and anecdotes about people associated with the buildings described.

Illustrated with over two hundred engravings and photographs – together with six extracts from the Ordnance Survey map of 1859 – this is an indispensable historical account of the largest town in West Sussex.

Price: £20 hardback - £12.50 paperback

'Absorbing, authoritative, revealing – a remarkable account of the final summer before everything fell apart.' Gyles Brandreth

Oscar Wilde's Scandalous Summer

THE 1894 WORTHING HOLIDAY
AND THE AFTERMATH

Oscar Wilde's Scandalous Summer: the 1894 Worthing holiday and the aftermath

by Antony Edmonds

Amberley, 2014

In the summer of 1894 Oscar Wilde spent eight weeks in Worthing, during which he wrote his masterpiece, The Importance of Being Earnest. This book tells for the first time the full story of the Worthing summer, set in the context of the three years of Wilde's life before his downfall. There are fifty-nine illustrations, including over thirty photographs of Worthing in Wilde's time and three contemporary maps.

Price: £9.99

Worthing Through Time

by Sally White

Amberley, 2009

Worthing Through Time contains 180 photographs of Worthing, of which 90 are old photographs. Some printed in a sepia tone and some printed in full colour. These photographs are printed alongside a contemporary full colour photograph which illustrates the same scene. The contrasting illustrations show how the area has changed and developed during the last 100 years. The photographs illustrate shops, schools, garages, churches, houses and street scenes, each photograph is captioned and the book has an introduction which gives a brief overview of the history of the town. As you browse through the photographs, you will notice the increase in the number of vehicles on the road, shops that once sold new goods are now estate agents or charity shops. Green fields have been transformed into industrial estates, houses or ring roads.

Price: £12.50

West Sussex Literary Trail

By Peter Anderson & Keith McKenna

Per-Rambulations, 2007

This walking trail links Horsham with Chichester Cathedral along a 55-mile route. It takes you through some of the most beautiful villages and countryside in southern Britain and as you follow the trail the guidebook will bring the walk alive with stories of literary connections along the way. You'll meet Shelley, William Penn, John Galsworthy and Hilaire Belloc and smile at the anecdote Bob Copper wrote about the ferry over the river to Bury.

Price: £9.50

The Secret Shore: tales of folklore and smuggling from Sussex and Hampshire

by Chris Hare

The South Downs Society, 2016

Two hundred years ago the coast of Sussex and Hampshire was alive with the illegal activities of local smuggling gangs. In this book Chris Hare recounts the real events of those days including the bloody confrontations that frequently took place between the smugglers and the authorities.

The book is lavishly illustrated and makes the perfect gift for anyone with a love for old English traditions and customs.

Price: £10

Storm Tide, Worthing: Prelude to War 1933-1939

by Michael Payne

Verité CM Ltd, 2008

Set against the backdrop of national and international events, this book traces the momentous period leading up to conflict witnessed by the people of Worthing.

West Sussex Remembering 1914-18

edited by Martin Hayes and Emma White in association with West Sussex County Council

The History Press, 2014

The First World War claimed over 995,000 British lives, and its legacy continues to be remembered today. Great War Britain: West Sussex offers an intimate portrayal of the county and its people living in the shadow of the 'war to end all wars'. A beautifully illustrated and highly accessible volume, the Great War story of West Sussex is told through the testimony of those who were there and is vividly illustrated with evocative images from the archives of West Sussex County Council and local museums.

Price: £10

Worthing in the Bad Old Days: Riot, Beer and the Word of God

by Chris Hare

Olly's Future, 2021

The story of Worthing and the Salvation Army riots, and Rev. Francis Cruse, the then Vicar of Christ Church, told through his recently discovered writings in the church magazine.

Price: £5

Worthing: The Postcard Collection

by Antony Edmonds

Amberley Publishing, 2013

Postcards provide us with a unique and fascinating record of the buildings, the traffic and the people of a long-vanished England. This photographic record is of especial value in the case of Worthing, since so many of the town's historic buildings have been demolished over the past seventy-five years.

Reproduced in this book are over 160 postcards of Worthing that show the town in its Edwardian glory. Nearly 60 are in colour. The collection takes us first to Broadwater and Tarring, and then along Worthing parade and through the streets of the town.

Price: £10

Worthing Under Attack: Eye witness history of Worthing during the 1930s and 40s

by Chris Hare

Guild Care, 2011

Worthing Under Attack is a fascinating and often enthralling account of how ordinary people coped with the impact of the Great Depression in the 1930s and then the dangers of war in the 1940s. This lively book draws heavily on oral history interviews, conducted with people who were living in Worthing at the time.

Price: £10

Warnham and the Great War

by The Warnham Society

Warnham Society 2014

Members of the Warnham Society have now completed their three-year project and have produced this book. Sponsored by the Parish Council it covers Warnham but also Kingsfold and Rowhook. It contains the story of what was happening in the village and some of the interesting biographies belonging to Warnham soldiers.
